stere@psia

Stereopsia is an event which ignites creativity and innovation in an energetic, collaborative setting. With its roots in the 3D revolution of yesteryears (the event started in 2009!), Stereopsia remains at the forefront of technological evolution, steadfast in its commitment to pioneering research and innovation. At its core, Stereopsia fosters collaboration and cross-pollination among diverse audiences, driving XR adoption across Europe and beyond. Located strategically in Brussels, at the heart of European innovation, Stereopsia offers a panoramic view of the XR landscape, shaping the future of immersive technologies continent-wide.

NEED FOR A BOOST

Storytelling in immersive environments is innovative and emotionally impactful, representing the future of narrative. However, creating immersive experiences is a complex process that demands collaboration, creativity, and strategic planning. Key considerations include prioritizing user experience over technology, refining ideas, selecting appropriate technologies, and engaging the audience effectively. The Booster program at Stereopsia supports early-stage immersive projects, offering mentorship, expert coaching, and specialized masterclasses to help participants develop their XR concepts. Some projects are selected through the IMPULSE Call for Content, aimed at promoting groundbreaking works in Europe. The program culminates in a pitch session at the EMIC Market, connecting creators with investors and industry leaders, providing visibility, and facilitating the realization of innovative XR ideas.
